

Group Guidelines

At an absolute minimum, I expect general civility and engagement in the process.

Here is more specific advice:

1. Raise hand for recognition. Otherwise, respectful silence*.
2. Cellular devices set to vibrate or turned off.
3. No use of cellular devices, tablets, et cetera during class for non-academic purposes.
4. Cellular devices, etc. not allowed as calculators.
5. All portable music devices turned off, except possibly with permission during testing.
6. Audio/video/photographic recording allowed with permission only.
7. No food allowed. Drinks in closed containers permitted.
8. Academic honesty. The official NVC policy is posted for your perusal.
Don't tempt me. I mean it.
9. You may arrive or leave at any time. No need for any fuss – in or out, let's go.
10. Any same-day assignments are just that – not acceptable past that day for full credit.

Failure to comply = Grade reduction

* - This is a small room. Your conversation, however important it may be, is also very disruptive.

If you're talking about mathematics, why not wait and then ask me a question for everyone's sake?
